CADETS REVOLT.

ESCAPE OF FIVE SUSPECTS.

ALLEGED BRIBERY

The latest sensational happening in Canton is revealed in a report to the effect that the company of Cadets placed on guard over the quarters in which General Leung Hung-kal, Yang Kam-loong, Yang Sze-fung, Tam Kai-shou, Lam Chikmin and others were held in custody on suspicion of being concerned in the assassination of Line. Chung-kai, suddenly revolted on the 18th instant, with the result that all the suspects named made good their escape with most of the revolters, the latter of whom retreated to a prepared place to join the anti-Red forces.

It is said that one of the mutinous Cadets who was captured confessed that the whole of the company was bribed with a big sum to facilitate the escape of the prisoners. It is further reported that in consequence of the sudden change effected by General Chang Kai-shek in his coup designed to eliminate the power of General Hau Sung-chi, Wu Hon-min, who was reported to have been selected as a special envoy to visit Russia, has again been placed under restraint and sent back to Whampon. It is said that General Chang Kai-shek suspects that Wu Hon-min has been working in collusion with General Hsu Sung-chi.

A belief prevails in some quarters in Canton that General Chang-Kal-shek will promulgate the inauguration of the Boishevile regime on October 1st.

With regard to the attack on General Hsu Sung-chi, it is now reported that a machine gun corps. commanded by Russians, took part in the raid on the General's headquarters after strong resistance had been offered by the latter's bodyguards, and that General Hsu's private residence was also pillaged by Red troops. The Director of Public Works: As regards redistribution, if hon members will look at the last two pages they will see two lists of of work: (1) works not in the 1925 estimates for which votes had been taken, and (2) works not in the 1925 estimates for which votes must be taken. We have instructions to keep our estimates down to nino million dollars," but with these big amounts and the resumptions we found we were greatly in excess of that sum, so it was then necessary to redistribute expenditure. Works which were not commenced these not proceeded with, and amounts were redistributed over school Ngau Shi Wan. works which were in operation. Wo I Estimating Expenditure.

Hon. Mr. Holyoak: It strikes me that a great deal of this should lave been in the estimates The Chairman: If you were to put it into the estimates, we should then have Public Works Extraor dinary amounting to about 14 or 15 million instead of nine million. less than nine millions were spent then there would be complaints about overs-stimating or lack of enterprise in the Public Works Department in not being able to leal with the work voted for. There ire, various/ works/ under Public Works Estraordinary which are desirable and would probably be undertaken and would cost sometimes very large sum of money, but i cannot be seen to what extent the have been carried out. Bupposing you said we will be on the safe side and pat $100,000 down and you only spend $10,000, there is $90,000 left unexpended. Then you might put down $100,000 and find that you spend a good deal more than that.

this system we can put nominal amounts down for certain work, and I then if we find we can do more than we thought we could, then we can redistribute and take the money from some other work which is not to be carried through and add it to this work. If you put down the full amount you can spend on everything you will have an enormous sum, your purghase would be ridiculous and you could not possibly spend that sum. If you only estimate where you are certain to spend the full sum and where you expect to spend only a nominal sum, then we can redistribute at a later date in the

The work of repair is now in hand and it may he one two or three days before the job is completed.

Meanwhile, there is no steamship communication with Canton, save by H.M.S. Tung On which is still running under the naval; au-

On the Honam's arrival late last night, it was learned that of the 100 Chinese passengers who went up on Wednesday morning nearly 70 of them had succeeded in landing, despite the vigilance of the strikers' pickets in motor boats. Nearly 90 new passengers were brought down by the boat, although there were cases reported in which the pickets had fired on the motor boats making for the ship. It is understood that the British Consul-General (Sir James Jamieson) has protested to the Canton authorities regarding this
